

Why Choose Nelson Laboratories?

Safeguarding Global Health™

with every test we complete.

Nelson Laboratories is a leading provider of microbiology testing and consulting services for MedTech companies. With a strong belief that every test matters, we go beyond exceptional quality and rigorous testing standards to provide solutions that improve patient outcomes and minimize client risk. We know the products we test are as important as the patients they represent. It's why we set such high standards, ensure accuracy, and work directly with clients to help solve complex issues.

- Focusing on the customer. We provide direct access to industry experts who understand our clients' business and add value at every step by collaborating to find solutions to complex problems.
- Impacting lives. We understand the test results we generate ensure the safety and efficacy of our clients' products and their success in providing healthy patient outcomes.
- Delivering value. We provide superior testing solutions and personalized service for every client and every project, offering industry-leading expertise, quality, and results that deliver exceptional value to our clients.

